

PERSONAL INFORMATION PROTECTION POLICY

BrasPine & Braslumber put forth this Personal Information Protection Policy (<https://braspine.com.br/downloads/personal-information-protection-policy.pdf>) as a means of showing our commitment to the security and privacy of the information collected from users of the interactive services available on this site, in compliance with the transparency requirement established in the Brazilian General Law of Protection of Personal Information, which requires making clear to users how their personal information will be utilized.

Visitors to this site may consult our products and offered services, read notices and reports, and obtain information and news without providing personal information.

Should any personal information be provided, this policy seeks to clarify how this information is collected and handled individually.

The personal information provided by users are collected by ethical and legal means and are requested only when necessary to fulfill a legitimate interest of BrasPine & Braslumber. The user's information will be stored under rigorous security and confidentiality standards, in compliance with requirements of the Brazilian General Law of Protection of Personal Information (LGPD, n°13 709, signed August 14th, 2018). The information will be deleted once it no longer serves the purpose for which it was collected, or upon user's request to delete this personal information, given that the request is compliant with the minimum legal time span.

Further, we clarify that this information may also be shared with companies providing technological and operational infrastructure necessary for the activities of BrasPine & Braslumber, such as payment intermediaries and information storage service providers. Unless BrasPine & Braslumber receives legal ordinance or court order, user information will not be transferred or used for any purpose other than that for which it was collected.

BrasPine & Braslumber's processes, policies, compliance procedures and code of conduct adhere to the company's commitment to the privacy and confidentiality of the information collected from their applicants, clients, providers, employees, and any other party with whom they may conduct business.

Questions or concerns regarding information protection may be sent <https://www.braspine.com.br/en/contact-us/privacy-lgpd/> or e-mail to dpo@braspine.com.br or by phone, calling +55 (43) 3535-8300, extension 8510, 'internal controls' sector.

BrasPine & Braslumber emphasize their ethical commitment to guaranteeing and upholding the integrity and confidentiality of the identity and information provided by applicants, employees, third-parties, service providers, and any other party with whom they may conduct business.
